APAC, the Appointed Professionals Advisory Council, is a group of thousands of professionals with wide-ranging and influential roles, responsibilities, and networks across the University of Arizona.

As representatives for all UA Appointed Professionals, we influence the grand vision of the university and advise the administration and other campus organizations on issues related to our roles as APs.

Every day, we contribute to the UA's Never Settle mission of improving the prospects and enriching the lives of people everywhere through education, research, creative expression, and community and business partnerships. Within that context, we work to improve the quality of our career lives through promoting professional enrichment, making the AP voice heard, and offering pathways for APs to participate in the shared governance of the UA.

Quick Facts

- We represent approximately 4,000 Appointed Professionals through a representative and democratic council.
- In partnership with Faculty Senate, we obtained a voting member to represent hundreds of non-tenure track year-to-year faculty through a faculty-approved bylaw amendment.
- Our representatives serve on more than 20 shared governance committees on campus. APAC and APs have been invited to serve on most senior administrator hiring and review committees.
- The APAC Chair serves on the President's Shared Governance and Campus Community Advisory Committee.
- We represent a diverse group of employees including year-to-year non-tenure track faculty, academic advisors, research scientists, and administrators and professionals of all kinds.
- The APAC Professional Development Program awards thousands of dollars annually to APs seeking new skills and development.
- We have been an instrumental voice in policy development and the formulation of governing documents for appointed personnel at the UA and across the Arizona University System.
